

Please allow the DO NOT CALL List to stay enforced. Do not bend to the money hungry Political Action Committee's and their money and make a decision that goes well against the public sentiment. If the crap they are pushing over the phone was so great and I really wanted to buy it, then I would order it out of a catalog or buy it in a store.

To get a good flavor of the do not call list, why dont you put your home phone number on the internet and then ask people to call you at home when you are eating with your family or later at night when your infant has just gotten to sleep. Maybe this would sway your thinking to people bothering you.

And dont think about letting them call me on my cell phone so I can get charged everytime my own phone company wants me to add services I dont want.

Do the right thing. Allow the DO NOT CALL List to continue.
